You make the Iowa Student Global Leadership Conference a success. The following code outlines your responsibilities.

CODE OF CONDUCT: I WILL

- Attend all sessions and activities on time and in appropriate attire.
- Treat other students, chaperones, facilitators, and conference staff with respect and attention.
- Enter only the hotel room assigned to me.
- Respect members of the opposite sex by not going into their hotel rooms.
- Wear my name tag at all times.
- Comply with the curfew time as stated in the conference program.
- Not order delivery food to arrive after 12 midnight.
- Not leave the Hotel Fort Des Moines unescorted by a chaperone.
- Not drive a motorized vehicle.
- Assume legal and financial responsibility for traffic/parking tickets received.
- Follow Hotel Fort Des Moines policies—if security catches you doing these things, their penalty procedure supersedes those set by the conference:
 - damage to hotel property.
 - consume or possess alcoholic beverages, tobacco products, or illegal drugs.
 - possess any fireworks or explosives.
 - remove screens from windows.

By not following the above code, I will:

- First be given a warning unless offense is immediately handled by hotel security or conference staff.
- On a second offense, be restricted from all remaining conference activities.

The conference staff and chaperones have the responsibility for the safety of the total conference delegation. They have the right and responsibility to contact parents or hosts of students when appropriate. All Iowa laws that affect minors will be enforced and students may be sent home if the conference staff determines it to be the most appropriate action.

Thank you for making this conference a success.
